Tooth Fairy

You are a disgruntled tooth fairy. You can't understand why Santa and even the Easter Bunny get more attention than you do. You just visited twins who expected $20 per tooth. Start with: I can't believe ...

Characters often live beyond one piece of writing. Write something that will happen in the future to one of the characters in your story as a result of this writing.

Do this with a character who has stuck with you from another writing.
